Office Action Summary

Part of Paper No. 5

Art Unit: 2834

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

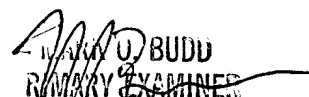

Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuroda, Wajima or Sugiyama in view of Tsuji or Onishi.

Kuroda, Wajima and Sugiyama teach the piezoelectric resonator except they do not use laminated substrates with integral capacitors. However, Tsuji and Onishi teach mounting piezoelectric resonators on substrates provided as laminated layers incorporating circuit elements in an integral construction. Thus, to provide an very compact self contained piezo resonator as shown by Tsuji or Onishi it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use laminated substrates with Kuroda, Wajima or Sugiyama. Note that once the electric circuit is designed. The physical architecture of the ceramic piezo elements and capacitor electrodes is dictated and thus providing that structure would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Further cited of interest are Yachi and Koyama.
